

The Littlehampton.info website is being privately funded by a local businessman and will be an on-line resource for Littlehampton that is both comprehensive and interactive.

'Littlehampton Info' is designed to bring together all the existing resources for Littlehampton and will complement, and not compete with, everything that is already there. It is designed to help local traders increase their customer base and customer loyalty, by providing existing and potential customers with information about local providers, and an opportunity for local traders to interact directly with them.

Participation in the project is free to the user and to the listees, and we are including every business, service provider, venue, club, charity, event, etc. we can find in the Littlehampton area.

We need help from the local traders and residents. There are currently over 1200 entries on the site and we are adding to this all the time. The data we have is from Companies House records and other lists, but these do not include everything we need. We are asking local people to contribute by telling us about 'anything that is Littlehampton' that should be included on the site in order that we can achieve our goal of being the most comprehensive on-line resource for the Littlehampton area.

We are also looking for contributions to our Places pages from people with a good local knowledge of Littlehampton town and the surrounding villages.

The people behind the Littlehampton Info project believe it will provide a unique opportunity for local businesses to promote to, and connect with, their existing and potential customers and this will be achieved, not only through the website but by using other marketing platforms, including newsletters, social media, a smartphone app, etc.

This a new concept for Littlehampton town, and the team believe that by bringing everything about Littlehampton into a virtual shopping mall under the banner of 'Littlehampton Info' there will be significant benefits to the traders, residents and visitors.
